

WAISTCOAT-STYLE LIFEJACKET WITH SPRAYHOOD and HARNESS

Latest addition to the range of Kru lifejackets is the Kru Sport Pro waistcoat-style lifejacket, now incorporating an integral sprayhood, as well as a harness. The sprayhood is designed to unfold from within the lifejacket, over the user's face once the lifejacket has fully inflated.

The lifejacket is compact, unobtrusive and easy to wear for all types of water use, allowing the wearer total freedom of movement whether wearing light

Summer clothing, or full foul weather gear. This new design is in line with current recommendations for a lifejacket to feature an integral sprayhood to reduce the risk of secondary drowning and a crutch strap to prevent the lifejacket from riding up when inflated in the water. It also features a fitting patch for a lifejacket light to make the user more visible in the water in poor conditions or at night.

Designed and manufactured in Britain, Kru covers the majority of water uses from inland and inshore to ocean going passages. The range is supported with a worldwide service and support network.

Recommended retail prices of Kru Sport Pro lifejackets including vat:
