Ocean Safety Wins Innovations Showcase Award for the Second Year in a Row!

Ocean Safety have once again won the Seawork award in the category of Safety and Survival with the latest model of the Kru Sport Pro lifejacket, incorporating an integral sprayhood and harness. The Kru Sport Pro has proved one of the most popular lifejackets within the Kru range since its launch just 6 months ago, and this latest model has already generated a number of enquiries at the 3 day Seawork exhibition.

With its unique and stylish waistcoat style design, the lifejacket is unobtrusive and lightweight, making the fit comfortable for the wearer in light Summer clothing or foul weather gear. A great all rounder at all times of the year! This lifejacket outperforms the current 150 Newton standard, by offering superior buoyancy of 175 Newtons, by using the larger 38g gas cylinder.

The lifejacket features an adjustable tapering crutch strap, retro reflective tape and light fitting patch and comes complete with its own protective stowage bag.

The Kru Sport Pro lifejacket has dual lifting beackets, which double up as buddy handles when there is more than one person in the water.

Recommended retail price of the automatic version including vat is £149 or 189 Euros.

Note to Editors: Ocean Safety has an ongoing development programme for all their product ranges and is always producing innovative products for the marine safety industry both in the commercial and leisure sectors.

The design team in Southampton work with official authorities through their training programmes, and research and development is carried out through vital feedback from commercial and professional users requiring specialist product for their area of operation and particular conditions. In 2007 Ocean Safety won the Innovations Showcase award for the Jonbuoy Inflatable Sling.
